Successful Model of International Cooperation Designed by Policy Makers- JODI was born

Ministerial Inspiration since 2000

The 7th International Energy Forum host and the co-host statement emphasised the importance of “improving and timely accessing to energy data” for “market assessment and transparency”.

What the IEF can do for you?

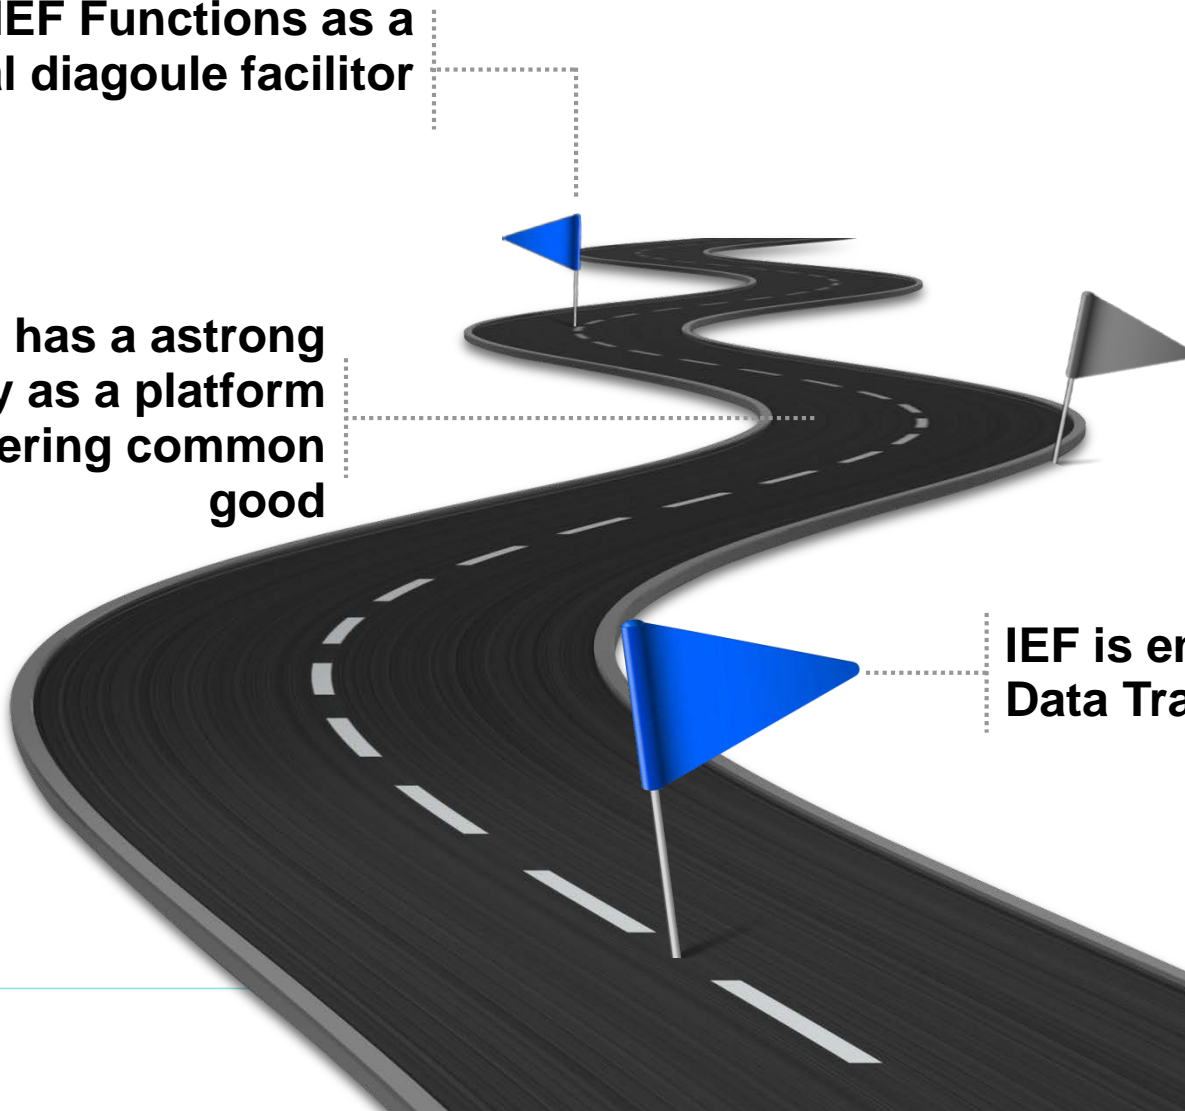

- Provide a neutral and energy specific forum to facilitate...
- A more secure environment for investment
- The advance efficient development of sovereign resources
- Encourage mutually advantageous development of infrastructure

Role of the IEF- Energy market security and orderly energy transitions

The IEF Functions as a neutral dialogue facilitator

IEF has a strong history as a platform for fostering common good

IEF is engaged on Energy Data Transparency

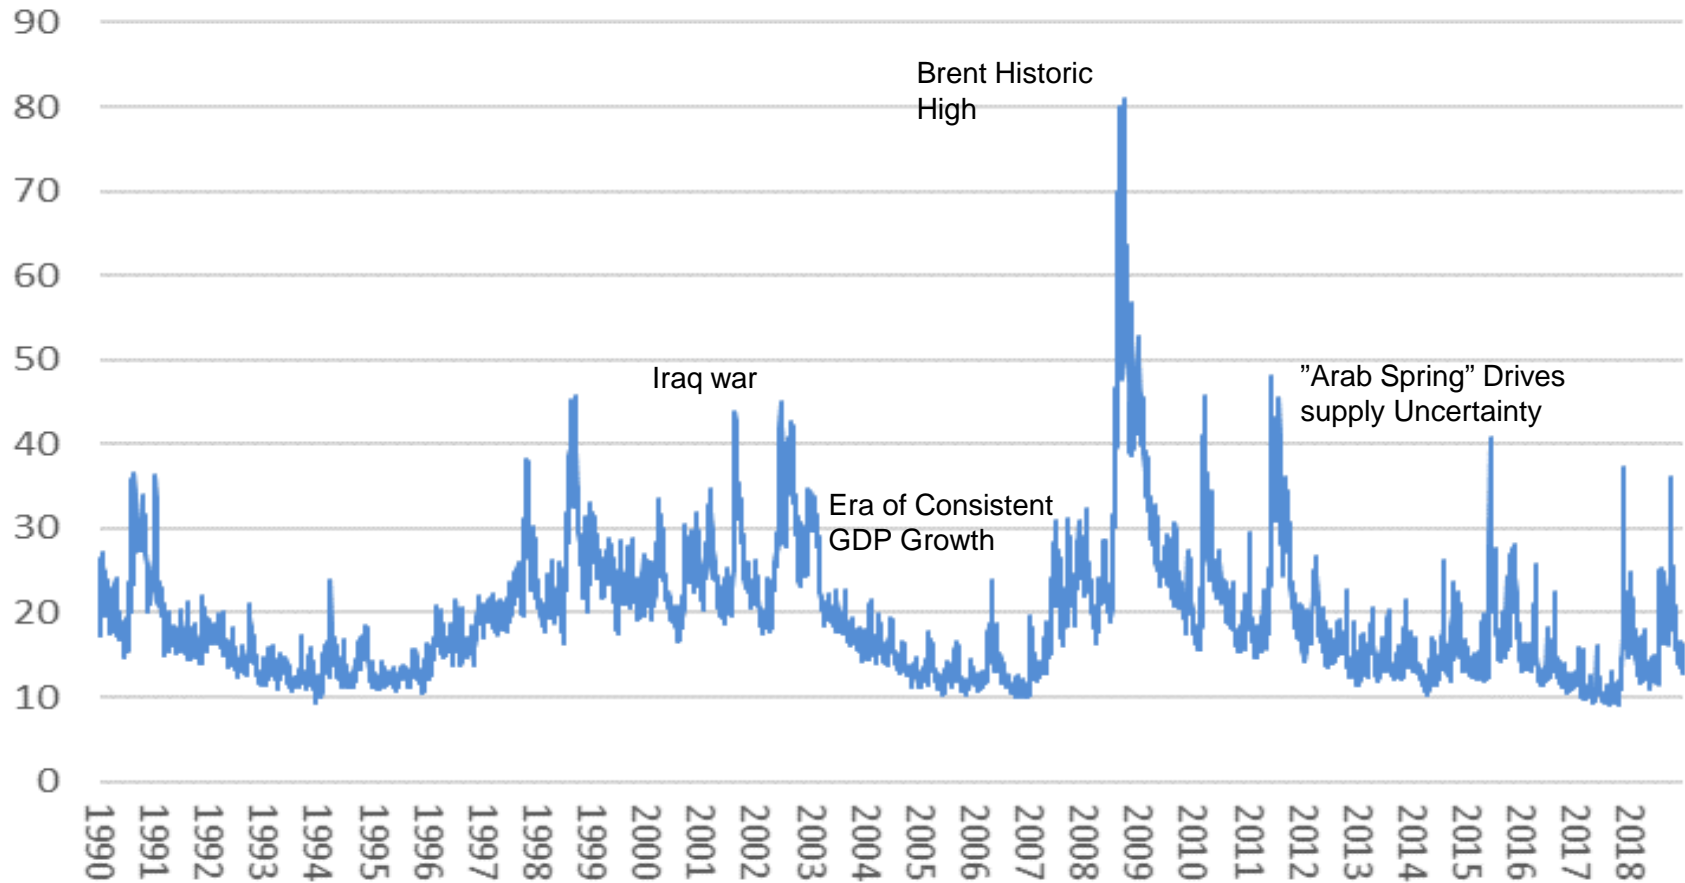

Energy Transparency is at the Core of the IEF

- We are a Neutral & Inclusive
- International Forum of Energy Producers and Consumers
- Under the pillars of:
 - Energy Security
 - Data Transparency
 - Energy Dialogue
- Covering around 90% of global supply and demand for O&G

Much progress made since 2000

- 2000: JODI was set up by (APEC/EUROSTAT/IEA/OLADE/OPEC/UNSD)
- 2003: JODI became a permanent initiative
- 2005: The IEF assumed the role of JODI Coordinator
- 2005: JODI-Oil world database (90+ Countries) opened
- 2009: JODI-Gas “exercise” (52 Countries) initiated
- 2012: Extended JODI-Oil data points released
- 2014: GECF became a JODI Partner
- 2014: JODI-Gas with 75+ Countries launched
- 2017: JODI Data on Industry Platform (Bloomberg & Reuters)
- 2018: JODI included OAPEC and AFREC as JODI Associates

Active Engagement to make JODI happen

- JODI conferences & Seminars
- Regional training workshops (Capacity Building)
- Coordination meetings with JODI Partners
- Monthly update of database, managing the JODI website, etc.
- Continues interaction with: Leaders, stakeholders, users, media, researchers to increase visibility

JODI: On-going engagement
